Effort Being Made To Keep British Fleet Tied Up In North Sea

LONDON, Feb. 21—Three powerful German warships today were reported racing to Trondheim, Norway, in a sudden maneuver designed to keep British naval units tied up in the North sea.

A Stockholm dispatch to the London Daily Express said it was reported the 35,000-ton Nazi battleship Tirpitz, the 10,000-ton pocket battleship Admiral Scheer and the 10,000-ton cruiser Admiral Hipper steamed out of their German bases and up the Norwegian coast toward Trondheim.

From there, the Stockholm report said, the German vessels will probably raid convoys carrying American and British supplies to Murmansk for delivery to Russia's armies.

According to the Express, the 26,000-ton Nazi battleship Scharnhorst and Gneisenau and the 10,000-ton cruiser Prinz Eugen are expected to make a similar move after they are repaired.

The Scharnhorst, Gneisenau and Prinz Eugen recently broke out of the Nazi-held base at Brest on the French coast and ran the gauntlet of British planes, warships and coastal guns in a dramatic dash through the Straits of Dover to Heligoland.

These three vessels, previously bombed repeatedly at Brest, suffered further damages in the great battle that resulted when they escaped from Brest, and will require repairs that will keep them out of action for some time.

Whether other units accompanied the Tirpitz, Admiral Scheer and Admiral Hipper to Trondheim, scene of savage naval fighting during the Norwegian campaign earlier in the war, was not known.

The Express said the Germans have built a new base at Trondheim and have constructed steel shelters for battleships and U-boats at this base.

(Editor's Note: The steel shelters evidently are designed to protect the Nazi naval units from R.A.F. bombers, which probably will begin attacks on the German warships in their new haven.)

The dispatch added that German fortifications stretch along the Norwegian coast all the way from Trondheim to Narvik.

NAZIS USE SMALL SUB TO DESTROY BRAZILIAN SHIP

NORFOLK, Va., Feb. 21 — The captain and 45 members of the crew of the Brazilian merchantman Olinda, which was torpedoed and sunk off the Atlantic coast last Wednesday by a "pocket-size" Nazi U-boat today were recovering from their harrowing experiences, which included a visit by the ship's master to the midge submarine.

The crew members were brought ashore last night after their rescue at sea and 18 of the men were taken to naval hospital for treatment for exposure.

Capt. Jacob Bellemend, of Rio De Janeiro, said that the small sub opened fire while about two miles away and he ordered all hands into life boats. The sub repeatedly shelled the 5,000-ton boat as it approached and then sent a torpedo into it. The sub followed alongside two life boats.

Uncle Sam's Bombers And Diving Craft Score Major Blows

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—Indicating that U. S. air reinforcements have arrived in the Dutch Indies, the War department today reported the biggest aerial encounter by the Army since the war began in describing a fierce assault by American bombers on a Japanese armada near Bali.

These attacks on enemy shipping were in addition to the severe damage done to four Japanese warships Thursday during the invasion of Bali.

"One of the cruisers which received two direct hits of heavy bombs was seen to be stationary and on fire after the attack," a communiqué from the headquarters of the southwest Pacific command related.

Meanwhile, Japanese planes ranged far and wide over Java, bombing the town of Banjewangi in East Java, and striking at airports on both sides of the island.

Thirty-nine civilians were killed and fifteen injured in the raid of Banjewangi, as a heavy bomb struck a direct hit on an air raid shelter. Thirteen bombs were dropped on the town.

Two persons were severely wounded and ten slightly injured in the raid on an East Java airport.

No casualties were reported from the raid in West Java, although some damage was admitted.

The Japs seemed to be trying to knock out Javanese airports before launching an invasion.

Earlier, a Netherlands East Indies naval communiqué told of the

BITTINGER HITS TAMPERING WITH SCHOOL MONEY

COLUMBUS, Feb. 21—Ohio's schools, Democratic State Chairman J. Freer Bittinger charged today, "would be debt free had the present governor been contest to adopt a 'hands off' policy in 1939."

Prior to 1939 the state public school fund received its revenue from a portion of the general sales tax, the use sales tax, the cigarette excise stamp tax, the liquid fuel tax and the intangible property tax. Each of these funds were definitely earmarked for the schools.

"But," said Bittinger, "no sooner had the present governor been induced into office than he ripped from the funds the specific earmarkings and tossed the revenues into the general fund. Then he proceeded to appropriate from the fund certain amounts which were to be paid to the schools."

Survivors include his widow; two brothers, Theodore of California and Harry of Buffalo, N. Y., and three sisters, Mrs. Francis Haswell, Mrs. Mabel Nothstine and Stella Kirkendall, all of Los Angeles.

The funeral was conducted in Los Angeles. Cremation was also planned in Los Angeles with his ashes to be interred in Forest Lawn cemetery there.

"The result is the schools suffered tremendously. Figures which reveal the status of the treasury show that had the earmarking plan been continued, the schools could have received $15,628,328 more than was appropriated for them in 1939, 1940 and 1941."

MAJOR UPSET CHALKED UP IN COURT TOURNEY

Second Quarter Rally Gives Straight-Coached Youths Important Victory

WALNUT THUMPS PERRY

County League Champions Able To Connect Three Times From Foul Line

Washington township's battling cage team put on a David and Goliath act Friday evening to administer a 34-33 defeat to Ashville, thus eliminating the fast-stepping Broncos from the annual county cage tournament. The defeat was meted out in the second round of the tournament being conducted at Perry township gym, and threw the cage event into a wide open affair.

Other games Friday evening saw Walnut advance into the semi-finals by thumping Perry township, victor Thursday evening over New Holland in another surprise, by a 56-26 score, and Perry reserves take Pickaway 28-17. Many tournament fans were trying to determine which team Perry meant for its varsity and which for its reserve aggregation, the same boys appearing in both lineups.

The Washington upset came after four hard periods of basketball, with the boys coached by Loren Straight going to town in the second quarter to grab a lead that stood up by the narrowest of margins. Ashville started with an 11-6 edge in the first period, and looked like a winner, but the Washington boys started to hit in the second canto to run up 16 points against eight for Dick Carter's youngsters. The halftime found Washington in the van 22 to 19.

Ashville cut the lead down by a point in the third quarter, but couldn't quite overcome the margin.

Foul Line Fatal

The Broncos had plenty of chances to cop the game from the foul line, but it just wasn't that kind of a night. Only three completions were chalked up in favor of Ashville, 16 charity tosses being missed.

Ability of the Washington defense to hold Eugene Wilson brilliant Ashville guard, to three points helped in the upset, also. Meaffey and Neff made eight points each for the winners, while Bobby Young, who entered late in the game chalked up six quickies to help put Ashville in the game.

Rife's 11 points paced the winners, but eight by Brungs and seven by Bolender, usually low scorers, helped greatly to bring about the surprise. Brobst, Washington's flag general and defensive star, did splendid work until he left on personals during the second half. Wermert was also a personal foul victim.

Walnut township had too many guns for the Perry boys, grabbing an 11-5 lead at the quarter and running it to 23-11 at halftime, and to 39-23 at the three-quarter mark.

The loss was the first in county competition this year for Ashville.

The Walnut team was acclaimed by the crowd as the best to represent that school in many years, and was put into the book as a definite contender for the tourney title. Barr at center, McCray at forward and Winterhoff at guard chalked up 38 of the point total. Glen Frost, star of the Perry upset of New Holland, scored 10 for Perry.

The Perry 'reserves' had little trouble with Pickaway's Pirate B squad, getting a 14-7 halftime edge and holding it safely. George and Glen Frost accounted for most of the winner's points.

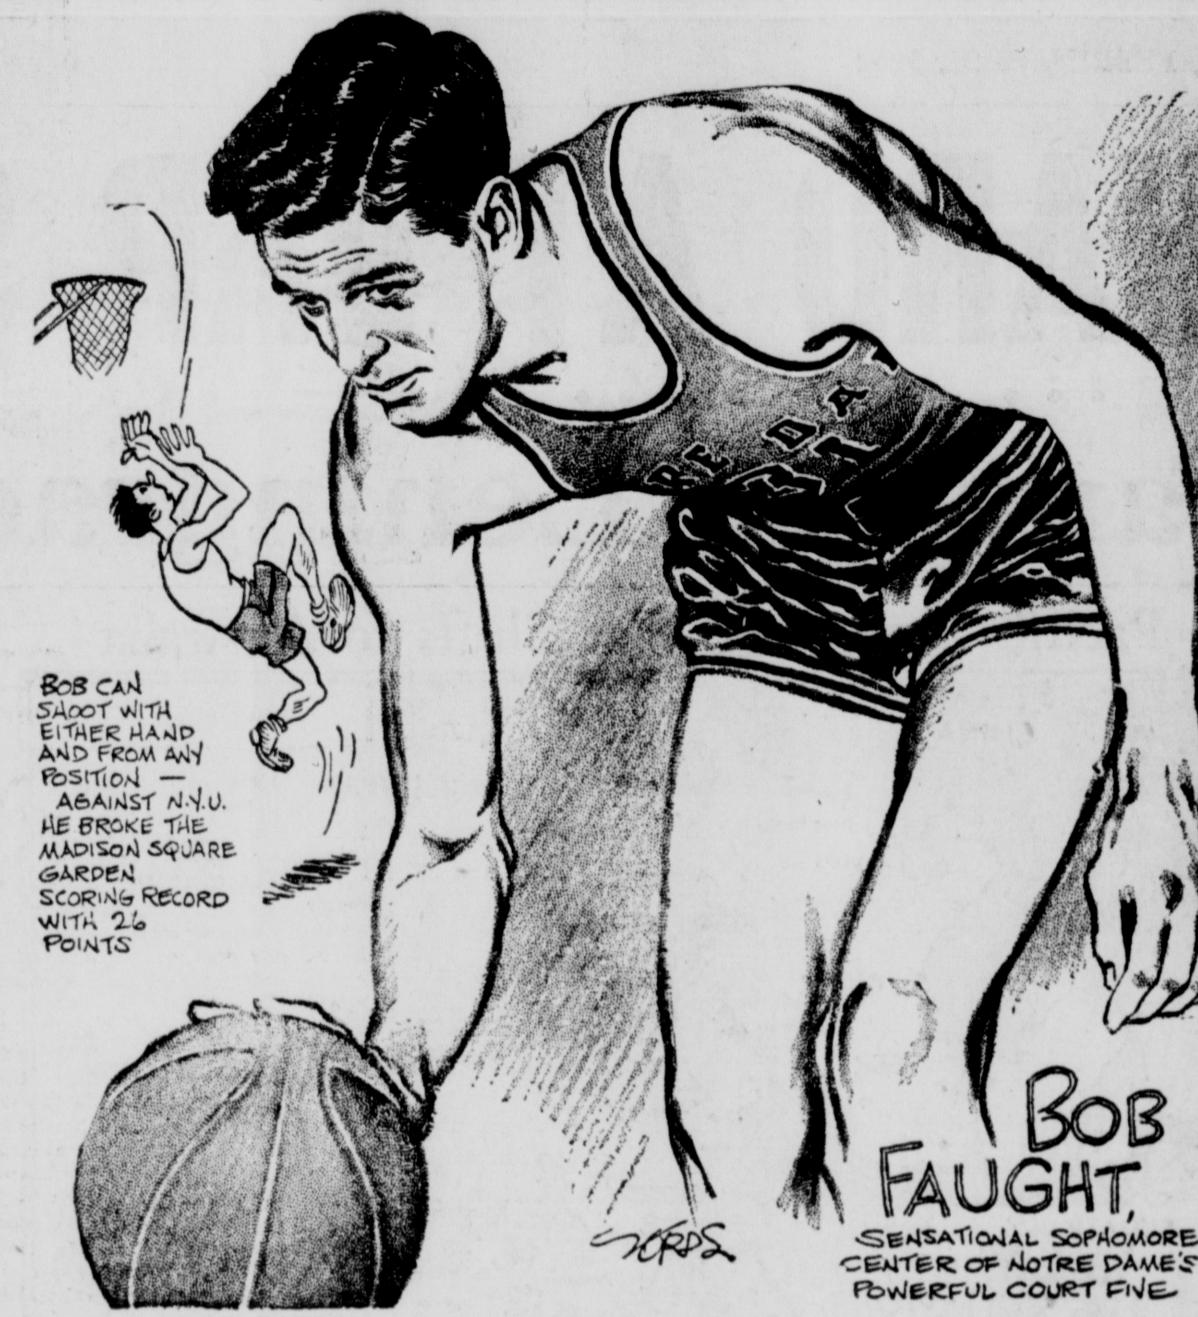

Pickaway and Scioto varities, two of the seeded teams, make their first appearances Saturday night against Darby and Monroe, respectively. Pickaway takes on the Trojans from Darby at 8 o'clock and Scioto meets Monroe at 10, with the Ashville and Walnut reserve sandwiched at 9.

Pickaway was its task cut out for it. Darby looking impressive against Williamsport. Monroe may surprise Scioto's bigger boys, although most tourney fans are favoring the Commercial Point youths.

The Ashville-Walnut reserve joust should be another ding-dong affair. The Bronko B group has a clean slate for the season in 16 games, and will be out to extend its streak. Ball handling and speed are stressed by the youths from Harrison township, most of the Ashville squad lads being from South Bloomfield. The entire team is comprised of freshmen.

The tournament, after Saturday's session, will recess until next Friday night when the semi-finals and reserve team consolation will be played.

M'CLAIN OUTFIT TOO POWERFUL

Grate, Elberfeld Lead Foe To Victory; Reserves Drop 36-24 Verdict

Circleville high Tigers couldn't cope with a sharpshooting Greenfield McClain quintet Friday evening on the McClain floor, so went down to a 48-23 South Central Ohio league defeat. Paced by the brilliant Don Grate, the Greenfield lads took over the lead early in the game and held it throughout.

Grate tallied 17 points, 14 of them in the first half. He left the ball game on personal fouls early in the fourth period. Elberfeld, sophomore substitute forward, scored 13 points, all in the last half, to trail him.

Circleville grabbed the lead when Don Valentine pegged one from the side, but Greenfield soon took over and held a 7-4 edge at the quarter. The half ended 21 to 8 and the third session 33 to 12.

The Red and Black set up a good zone defense in the early part of the game, and Greenfield was forced to shoot long ones. The McClain boys were on and their long pegs were hitting, thus forcing the Tigers to move out of their zone to break up the long heaves. Then McClain drove for the net, and hit that also.

The Tigers weren't able to do much with McClain's taller boys. Don Valentine's six points being tops with Jackson and Moorehead each getting five.

Circleville reserves fell 36 to 24, Dad Smallwood and Dave Mader getting seven points each.

The Tigers close their season next week playing London here Tuesday night and Bellefontaine there Friday night.

HERBERT, MANGRUM TAKE LEAD IN ORLEANS OPEN

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 21 — Chick Harbert of Battle Creek, Mich., and Lloyd Mangrum of Oak Park, Ill., both of whom bagged 69s on the first round, were showing the way today as the $5,000 New Orleans open golf tourney went into its second round.

Behind Harbert and Mangrum, bunched with 70s, were Henry Picard, Clayton Heafner and Jack Grout. Heafner, however, announced his withdrawal because of an order to report immediately to his draft board at Linville, N. C. Grout, who is from Pittsburgh, Pa., outshot many better known golfers to gain his high position.

Johnny Revolta and Sam Snead turned in 71s for the first round. Fred Haas Jr., of New Orleans, and Earl Stewart of Baton Rouge, La., were the low amateurs, with 72s.

For the 34-year-old Mills is baseball coach as well as athletic director at the Champaign institution, and the team which is now assured of the conference title, barring a mathematical miracle, is almost exclusively his handiwork.

A protege of Bob Zuppke's, Mills took over the duties of athletic director last summer when Wendell Wilson was forced out, and later was given a permanent appointment to the post. Zuppke, retiring after 29 years as head football coach, expressed every confidence in Mills, and must have chuckled with satisfaction this week when Illinois beat Minnesota to virtually clinch the title.

Mills started his athletic career at Elgin, Ill. He starred in both football and basketball later at Illinois, and he might also have

TIGERS LOSE, 48-23

M'CLAIN OUTFIT TOO POWERFUL

Grate, Elberfeld Lead Foe
To Victory; Reserves
Drop 36-24 Verdict

Circleville high Tigers couldn't cope with a sharpshooting Greenfield McClain quintet Friday evening on the McClain floor, so went down to a 48-23 South Central Ohio league defeat. Paced by the brilliant Don Grate, the Greenfield lads took over the lead early in the game and held it throughout.

Grate tallied 17 points, 14 of them in the first half. He left the ball game on personal fouls early in the fourth period. Elberfeld, sophomore substitute forward, scored 13 points, all in the last half, to trail him.

Circleville grabbed the lead when Don Valentine pegged one from the side, but Greenfield soon took over and held a 7-4 edge at the quarter. The half ended 21 to 8 and the third session 33 to 12.

The Red and Black set up a good zone defense in the early part of the game, and Greenfield was forced to shoot long ones. The McClain boys were on and their long shots were hitting, thus forcing the Tigers to move out of their zone to break up the long heaves. Then McClain drove for the net, and hit that also.

The Tigers weren't able to do much with McClain's taller boys. Don Valentine's six points being tops with Jackson and Moorehead each getting five.

Circleville reserves fell 36 to 24. Dud Smallwood and Dave Mader getting seven points each.

The Tigers close their season next week playing London here Tuesday night and Bellefontaine there Friday night.

HIGHLIGHTS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

2-21

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Feb. 22 is Mark 3:13-19; Matt. 5:7; Luke 6:12-49, the Golden Text being Matt. 5:16. "Even so let your light shine before men; that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father who is in heaven.")

AFTER HEALING multitudes, Jesus went to a mountain alone and communed with His Father all night. When morning came His disciples came to Him and He chose 12 of them to be constantly with Him and to do His work after Him. He chose Simon, whom He surnamed Peter, and John, son of Zebedee, and John, his brother; Andrew and Philip, Bartholomew, and Matthew, Thomas and James, son of Alphaeus, Thaddeus and Simon the Cananite; and Judas Iscariot, who was His betrayer.

The multitudes followed Him there also, and seeing them Jesus went up into a mountain and taught, saying:

"Blessed are the poor in spirit; for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.

"Blessed are they that mourn; for they shall be comforted.

"Blessed are the meek; for they shall inherit the earth.

"Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness; for they shall be filled.

"Blessed are the merciful; for they shall obtain mercy.

"Blessed are the pure in heart; for they shall see God.

"Blessed are the peace makers; for they shall be called the children of God.

"Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness sake; for theirs is the kingdom of heaven."

In this remarkable sermon, Jesus taught His disciples how to be blessed is to be happy, to be prosperous, not in the worldly sense, but in the true sense. Nothing is more satisfying than to feel blessed. The "poor in spirit" not weak spirited, lacking in proper spirit, but those who are needy, shall gain the kingdom of heaven. Those who mourn shall be comforted; the meek and lowly shall be the ones to inherit the earth; they who are hungry for the right shall be filled. The merciful shall obtain mercy for themselves; the pure in heart shall have the joy of seeing God; and the peace makers shall be called the children of God.

"Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth, where moth and rust do corrupt, and thieves break through and steal. But lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven . . . for where your treasures are, there will your heart be also."

"Judge not, that ye be not judged," is another admonition of the Savior which is difficult for us to remember and to practice.

GERMAN AGENTS

AURA Ingalls, well-known flyer, convicted of secretly acting as a German agent, had been preaching that we were in no danger, and that all we needed to do was to "mind our own business." If we simply acted as if the wicked foreigners did not exist, they would give us no problems. For all this line of talk she was receiving German pay.

Her defense was that she was trying to deceive not us, but her German paymasters, and learn their secrets. Why the astute Germans should have been taken in by so obvious a trick, she did not explain. The best explanation for her is that she was fooling herself, the worst is that she was trying to fool us.

Her conviction follows close upon that of Congressmen Hamilton Fish's private secretary, also convicted of unregistered propaganda work for a foreign power. He worked with George Sylvester Viereck, now under indictment, who for years has been a propagandist and defender of Germany. The two convictions prove that German agents are active among us. We would do well to suspect any speakers or writers who decry the motives of our allies or urge us to let up on our own effort.

CAMP FIRE POETRY

NO ONE need fear for the art of poetry in the future if the Camp Fire Girls keep on writing verse. Their recent contest produced hundred of poems, most of them passable, many of them very good, a few really exquisite, a few very fine and strong. The winning poem, "Little Road" by Alice Louise Goddard of Rocky River, Ohio, manifested not only a love and understanding of nature, but a philosophic bent somewhat unusual in so young a poet.

Most of the poems among the higher ten showed this love of nature, in one form or another, proving that the Camp Fire is giving its girls that great gift. There was also, among these, a bright and humorous bit by a girl who "had no spouse, and hence no house," so she was doing the spring cleaning with her heart. When she had swept out the old loves and other clutter, she hoped maybe some nice young man would come by to call, "sip a cup of tea and maybe spend his life with me." This girl is seventeen; most of the winners were twelve to sixteen years old. The poems, on the whole, do great credit to the girls and to their organization.

The Camp Fire girls, the Girl and Boy Scouts are all growing up as America wants its youth to grow, in grace, strength and usefulness.

To match this, the United States must have a battle fleet of equal strength capable of getting to various parts of the Atlantic in a hurry. The size of our fleet in the Atlantic is a military secret, but it was no secret before the war and is therefore known to the enemy that many of our battleships were built as far back as 1911 and 1912, making them thirty years old. And a battleship only twenty years old is considered out of date.

That was one reason why President Roosevelt issued his grim warning that the entire East Coast of the United States, and even Detroit, might be vulnerable to attack.

All this is why U. S. strategists are convinced that the British-American fleets must concentrate their operations in the Atlantic even at the expense of the Mediterranean; why the British may even have to withdraw their fleet from the Mediterranean.

The Pacific is a different problem. But in the Atlantic U. S. admirals fear disastrous consequences if the Allied fleets continue to be divided between the Mediterranean and the North Atlantic.

This question is going to be one of the most vital debates facing Allied commanders — especially with the French fleet getting restless in the Mediterranean.

Out and about the ville on another snappy morning. Wonder what has happened to the taste of Spring we always get along about this time of year?

Called at the post and there found a card from Doc Montgomery, now Captain E. L. Montgomery. Address changed.

Among other things he wrote: "The only thing I liked about the South was the good old Democratic politics. Tell that to Clark Will. And, by the way, I understand that he has gone back to walking in the alleys."

Doc at one time kidded Clark a lot about alley walking when Clark was one of the few Republicans hereabout who had enough nerve to admit the fact.

along the road to preparedness. If England had fallen at the time of the fall of France then the United States would have been confronted by two powerful enemies, Japan in the Pacific and Hitler in the Atlantic. In our unpreparedness we would have been in a sad state indeed. We are in none too good a condition today, but we are getting well in a hurry.

Heard a talk at Rotary Thursday that caused me to give a little more thought to England and what the English are doing in this war. True it is that the English have not met with particular success, but neither have we. Some of us have been unable to understand why the British have not accomplished more. However, they have done much. They have balked German ambitions from the beginning of the war, have held Hitler back instead of capitulating as did France, and while they delayed the Huns we have been given an opportunity to move

So, if England has done nothing more than give us time to gird for war, then she has done a lot. However, England has done much more than that. She has set an example of unity, courage and determination on the Tight Little Isle that can serve us well. She has not been discouraged by defeat or disaster. Reverses have not even served as distractions from the march toward ultimate victory. So, let's give the English credit for giving us a chance to survive. We'll do that, you may rest assured, but only at a terrible price to every man, woman and child in America. Don't think you will escape the consequences of war. You won't.

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN

MUST WITHDRAW FLEET

WASHINGTON — Ever since the escape of the German battleships Gneisenau and Scharnhorst, with the cruiser Prince Eugen, the U. S. and British high commands have been studying the strength of the Allied fleet in the Atlantic.

Battleships are like kings in a game of checkers. They can move backwards or forwards with more impunity than lesser vessels; and they can "take" smaller warships. Therefore, a compact, powerful body of battleships, making surprise raids on the enemy can prove disastrous in the extreme—especially when the antagonist has long supply lines spread out over 3,000 miles of the North Atlantic, guarded only by destroyers and cruisers.

Surveying the new Nazi naval strength, Allied commanders are preparing for the worst. For this is what they figure the Nazis have:

The Gneisenau and Scharnhorst, 26,000 tons each.

The new battleship Tirpitz, 40,000 tons.

The Friedrich der Grosse and Hindenburg, 45,000 tons each, under construction for some time and probably 95 percent completed.

Two airplane carriers, the Deutschland and Graf Zeppelin, of 19,500 tons carrying 250 planes each.

Eight cruisers of the Prince Eugen class.

To match this, the United States must have a battle fleet of equal strength capable of getting to various parts of the Atlantic in a hurry. The size of our fleet in the Atlantic is a military secret, but it was no secret before the war and is therefore known to the enemy that many of our battleships were built as far back as 1911 and 1912, making them thirty years old. General Practitioners Valuable to Families

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

I WENT down into the country side the other day to meet with a county medical society. I found a young doctor who had been in practice for about a year—he was doing general practice in a small village and was having more work than he knew what to do with.

I also met his wife. She was a

LET US GIVE THANKS FOR WHAT WE HAVE

The next time you go up or down South Court street pause a moment to reflect just what Circleville high school means. This building is symbolic of the system of American schools. Recall the long dark centuries when the masses were kept in ignorance —where greed and oppression ruled the world with an iron hand—where the only light of intellect in the whole world emanated from the monasteries of Europe.

From the very beginning of man's struggle for knowledge, self respect, and the recognition of his inalienable rights, the school has been his greatest ally.

The school is referred to as "common" because it belongs to us all; it is every one of us working together in the education of the children of this land of ours; but it is a most common institution. It is relatively new. It is democracy's greatest gift to civilization.

A banquet will be conducted at 6:30 p.m. after the afternoon program which opens at 2 o'clock.

The meeting is expected to attract 150 members of the bench and bar of the district.

Harper Bible Class

February session of the Harper Bible class of the Circleville United Brethren church was held at the community house Friday night. Hostesses for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moats and Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Russell.

The business portion of the program was opened by Mrs. Russell, president of the class, and Mrs. Frank Moats was appointed to head a committee in charge of sales tax collections.

Mrs. Carl Porter, chairman in charge of the program, read the scripture and a prayer was given.

1942 EASTER PARADE TO SEE THESE CREATIONS

When milady enters the Easter parade, April 5, she may be wearing one of these creations by a New York designer. Black cherries draped from either side mark the peaked skull cap style hat, upper left. It is of black velvet with green veiling. The pink bonnet creation, lower left, has fuchsia velvet streamers and forget-me-nots in front. The purple jersey turban, right, is topped by a fan of daisies.

by the Rev. A. N. Gruesser, pastor of the church.

Readings on Washington and Lincoln were given by Mrs. Charles Kirkpatrick and Mrs. Ira Valentine.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Elks Dance Tonight

Circleville Elks and their friends will dance Saturday night to the music of Howard Gorman and his "Say it With Music" orchestra, dancing to be conducted in the lodge from 10 o'clock until 1.

The Gorman orchestra features Rosemary, one of the outstanding vocalists of the capital city, and includes Harold Dresbach at the drums.

William Crist heads the Elks' dance committee in charge of the dance.

Magic Sewing Club

Seven members and one visitor, Miss Sarah Anderson, attended the meeting of the Magic Sewing club, held Thursday at the home of Mrs. Walter Arledge, West High street. Mrs. Arledge was in charge of the program.

The club presented her with many useful gifts for her birthday and Mrs. Roger Lozier won a contest award.

Following the meeting lunch was served by the hostess.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Wilbur Funk Jr., Circleville RFD, on March 5.

Garden School Planned

Mount Sterling Garden club is sponsoring a garden school to be conducted next Friday in the Christian church of the village. Professor Victor Ries of Ohio State university will be the speaker.

The program begins at 9:45 a.m.

Professor Ries' subjects will be "Succession of Bloom from Perennials" and "Modern Tree Care".

An invitation is being issued to all interested persons.

Sewing Club Meets

The Zelma Sewing club met Friday at the home of Mrs. Paul Johnson, Northridge road, for its regular session. Mrs. Johnson served refreshments to the group.

The date and meeting place for the next meeting will be announced later.

Circle No. 6

Sixteen members attended a meeting of Circle No. 6, W.S.C.S., held Friday afternoon at the home of Miss Estelle Grimes.

HI-Y CLUB HEARS PERSONALS JUDGE E. BROWN; HOLDS INITIATION

Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Reichelderfer, East Franklin street, have been informed that their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Morton Reichelderfer of Cleveland, is showing a little improvement at the home of her parents in Lancaster. She has been seriously ill, for the last week.

Former judge E. A. Brown spoke to the Hi-Y club Monday evening following the business meeting. His subject was "Juvenile Delinquency."

During his talk he stated that everyone makes mistakes, but these can be corrected and that a child's environment is a determining factor in his character.

Mr. Brown related a few of the problems of juveniles that had been brought to him while serving as probate judge.

After Judge Brown's talk Monday evening, all the boys strolled to the social room and adjoining kitchen for the second semester initiation.

Eleven boys — Ralph Ankrom, Grant Carothers, Glenn Cook, Raymond Hale, Paul Helwagen, Jack Moats, Leo Morgan, Glenn Pearce, Edwin Richardson, Richard Roundhouse and James Sennbrenner — were inducted through the numerous catastrophes, the traditional hike being postponed until suitable weather permitted proper execution of this branch of the fun.

Because defense work has slowed down production of jewelry, club pins are hard to get. Thus, no date has been set for the formal initiation. As yet, pins ordered last September for boys taken in then have not arrived.

Stooges will buy the golf team one-half of its golf balls this year, while the athletic association will furnish the remainder. Circleville's golf team has the same four boys that it had last year and is expected to bring glory to CHS.

Next week's meeting will be at Carl Bach's on Thursday.

STOOGES MAKE FURTHER PLANS

At the meeting of the Stooges club held at David Yates' home, members continued the discussion and planned further for the annual benefit dinner.

Lieutenant Joseph M. Lynch, who was released from active Army service in November, has been recalled. He left this week for Richmond, Va., where he will be stationed for the time being.

Stooges will buy the golf team one-half of its golf balls this year, while the athletic association will furnish the remainder. Circleville's golf team has the same four boys that it had last year and is expected to bring glory to CHS.

LET US GIVE THANKS FOR WHAT WE HAVE

The next time you go up or down South Court street pause a moment to reflect just what Circleville high school means. That building is symbolic of the system of American schools. Recall the long dark centuries when the masses were kept in ignorance — where greed and oppression ruled the world with an iron hand — where the only light of intellect in the whole world emanated from the monasteries of Europe.

Mr. Will reports that a National Geographic War Map of the Pacific is now on the bulletin board. One of the world history classes is moving colored pins about on the map to show strategic war locations.

Also on the bulletin board is a copy of "High Flight," a poem written by John G. Magee, Jr. while he was fighting with the Royal Canadian Air Force. This poem is ranked with "Flanders Field" and other famous poems written by soldiers during World War I.

JUNIORS FORFEIT GAME TO FROSH

In the biggest upset of the year, the Juniors lost their first intramural game to the Freshmen. At the end of the regular game, the score was tied at 17, and, in an overtime, the third Junior went out with four fouls. The game was not continued because the Juniors had only four boys left without too many fouls.

This Junior loss forced a play off between them and the seventh and eighth grades' team since each has lost one game. The winner will meet Senior A, champions of the first round, in a game to decide the final intramural championship.

In the other games the Senior B team beat Senior A, 23-19, and Seventh and Eighth grades defeated the Sophomores, 34-17.

Final second round standings are listed below:

Team	Won	Lost
Juniors	4	1
Seventh and Eighth Grades	4	1
Senior B's	3	2
Senior A's	2	3
Freshmen	1	4
Sophomores	1	4

The scoring leadership, won by Cook of the Juniors, was hotly contested. Simison, Simons and Siegwald trailed Cook closely. The first eleven scores:

Player	Team	Points
Cook	Juniors	63
Simison	Senior A's	59
Simms	7th and 8th	53
	Grades
Siegwald	Senior B's	51
White	Senior A's	39
Carothers	Sophomores	31
Moorehead	7th and 8th	31

cudgels on behalf of Negro claims that they should be eligible to commissions in the Navy.

Behind-the-scenes, this has created quite a furor, because the Navy has not been open to commissioned colored officers in the past. And so far the Navy has had a flat-footed "no."

The Army, however, has not closed the door to colored officers.
Colored commissioned officers served in the last war, and until he retired recently, there was one colored brigadier general in the Army. So far, however, the Army has not welcomed Mrs. Roosevelt's proposals of colored air squadrons and tank units.

Styles in Hogs

I bought two bunches of stock hogs this week, that are typical of two styles. One bunch is upstanding, with plenty of length and "stretch", as one man expressed it, and "just ready to go."

They averaged 104 pounds and are a cross between Chester White and Pollard China. They are doing well, and if the price stays up, and they don't get sick or die, I should make a small margin of profit on them, over and above feed and labor cost.

About three cents a pound, or possibly little more.

The other bunch are pure bred Durocs, of the short, "chubby" type; with very wide, deep,
bodies; short legs; and an abundance of quality-so much that their coat has a silky texture. They are the type that you can fatten at any age as compared to the first lot that tend to grow, until they weigh about 150 pounds, when they begin to fatten and keep right at it, until they weigh as much as 250 pounds at seven or eight months of age.

You wouldn't think it to look at these hogs, but they weigh almost in the same notch; although the Chester Whites look much the larger.

Method of Feeding

The Chester Whites are on a ration made by mixing 1700 pounds of ground corn with 300 pounds of a 38 percent protein supplement, and fed in a self feeder, with two ears of corn apiece daily; and plenty of water, in a large trough, not four feet from the feeder. They are in box stall, 15 feet square, and have a comfortable bed of baled straw, that is changed every two weeks, and some fresh straw added every few days; so that they will be comfortable, and contented, while they are resting.

When the weather is good, they are turned out in the barnlot for half a day, to get some exercise.
They enjoy this, and it keeps them in good spirits.

The other bunch is slopped three times a day, with the same ration, and also get two ears of corn apiece a day, and all the water they want to drink, in a trough in their box stall in the barn.

This bunch also gets half a day
in the barnlot, on good days.
They are stabled every night,
just like the cows.

An Addition to Our Family

While it is not generally known, we had an addition to our family, Sunday, February 15, and Finance Minister Souza Costa, now in Washington, is not seeking a loan (Brazil has $66,000,000 of lend-lease funds to her credit) but materials, technical equipment and advice. With him is Valentim Boucas, President Vargas' golfing partner, who has made 26 trips to the United States and is another important supporter of the strong pro-American policy followed by Brazil.

Note: Ever since Jesse Jones formed his Rubber Reserve in 1940, the State department has been urging it to buy Brazilian rubber, even at a slightly higher price. But Rubber Reserve refused, saying that to pay more than 20 cents a pound would disturb the rubber market in the Dutch East Indies. Meanwhile, Germany continued to buy rubber from Brazil at 30 cents.

But last May, with the rubber situation more ominous, Brazil promised to send all her rubber to the United States, and stopped shipments to Germany. Still the Rubber Reserve refused to pay more than 20 cents. Meanwhile, some experts figure that our new synthetic rubber will cost us around $1 and $1.20 per pound.

cudgels on behalf of Negro claims that they should be eligible to commissions in the Navy.

Behind-the-scenes, this has created quite a furor, because the Navy has not been open to commissioned colored officers in the past. And so far the Navy has answered a flat-footed "no."

The Army, however, has not closed the door to colored officers. Colored commissioned officers served in the last war, and until he retired recently, there was one colored brigadier general in the Army. So far, however, the Army has not welcomed Mrs. Roosevelt's proposals of colored air squadrons and tank units.

Farming in Southern Ohio

BY THOMAS E. BEERY

Agricultural School

"We are trying to help our farm boys in the department of vocational agricultural to develop interest and leadership in community improvement, in addition to the technical training we give them in the class room," said Ralph Grinnshaw, the instructor in this school, when we visited his department. "We realize that technical training is very important in the business of farming, or in any business; but the development of the community is just as important, and some of the responsibility for its development, must be assumed by the young people, or it will not continue to make progress," he continued.

Then he told me briefly of some of the community projects that were being done by the boys in the department, and some of the aims that he had for the development of the boys. I'd say he has feet on the ground, and he is doing a work, that it would be hard to estimate, in the years to come.

I expect I should point out here that this addition to the family is not another child, but a pure bred Jersey calf a bull too, when we wanted a heifer, for the mother made an official milk production record, in her cow testing association of 414 pounds of butter fat, in a location period of about 11 months, which is more than twice the production of the average Ohio dairy cow.

The sire of this beautiful calf is the herd bull of the John Q. Roads pure bred Jersey herd of Hillsboro O. R. D. 5, that has a long line of high producing ancestors back of him. A calf like that should not be sold, but since we don't need him, he will be sold for veal at eight weeks of age when he should weigh 180 to 200 pounds and top the market if he is fat. I believe this is the largest calf I have ever seen. I think it will weigh 100 pounds now, and it is only a day old.

Defense Training
Many farm boys are in the defense classes, that are under the supervision of Supt. Howard Hosler of the Mowrytown schools; and Mr. Grimshaw. These classes are taught by Diamond Willman, who is doing outstanding work, in training the boys for defense jobs, and while doing it, making many welding repair jobs on farm tools used in the community. Instead of welding on metal and then discarding it, farm tools are welded, and repaired. They are the laboratory material for the classes. How is that for "having your feet on the ground?" Practical

STARS SAY—

For Saturday, February 21
Vigilance and precaution along all lines may turn the trends of this day into lucrative and eventful channels. While there is a sign of sudden and drastic action, possibly in connection with public or community affairs, yet there is an undercurrent of deception, trickery, fraud and intrigue.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate an active and eventful year, especially where public, group or community interests are involved. But all activities are best with ominous circumstances calling for keen vigilance, insight, preparedness and prudence where deception, treachery, malicious and underhand, hidden and secret schemes menace.

A child born on this day while active and enterprising in some directions, yet may be peculiar, unreliable, and given to expediency and deception.

For Sunday, February 22

SUNDAY'S horoscope although favoring the conventional affairs of the day, heightening the mystical, spiritual and deep consciousness, yet may be visited by sudden and devastating upheavals which may upset all plans and calculations. Progress may be impeded by the necessity to hearken to duty, to care for essential obligations and to retrench on funds and other resources.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves in a year in which all progress and success depend upon the discreet, sagacious and well controlled conduct in times of upheaval, stress and unexpected situations of a devastating nature. Wild and tumultuous acts might prove disastrous, whereas shrewd, temperate, intuitive and cannily clever handling of untoward events should attract secret help from powerful if hidden sources.

A child born on this day should be well endowed with imagination, intuition, or other vague or mysterious forces.

American Aircraft Plays Vital Role In Defense Of Java Region

(Editor's Note: The Australian information department at Canberra announced its radio listening post picked up a N.E.I. communiqué which said three Jap cruisers, a destroyer and three transports were hit and that another Japanese destroyer had been sunk off Bali.)

Tokyo claimed—without confirmation from any other source—that two Dutch destroyers were sunk, third damaged and two Dutch cruisers hit by torpedoes in a sea battle off Bali.)

Latest reports indicated Dutch and United Nations land, sea and air forces were still battling against the Japanese invaders of Bali, fabled island tourist mecca which only a mile-wide strait separates from East Java.

(British military authorities said they had no news regarding the present situation at Bali and declared they did not know whether the Dutch were still fighting.

Timor In Doubt

These circles also were without news regarding events on Timor Island and likewise regarding any Japanese landings on Java.

(The London Daily Mail reported from Batavia that Dutch garrisons at both Sumatra, west of Java, and Bali, to the east, were reported resisting fiercely.

But in accordance with previous plans, the dispatch said, all useful installations have been destroyed and both Sumatra and Bali "must be considered lost."

(The Mail said it was known that the Japanese have massed a large fleet of barges in preparation for a direct attack against Java, last United Nations bastion in the Dutch East Indies.)

Invasion of Bali marked another phase of the Nipponese effort to encircle Java in the gathering Jap offensive against this United Nations stronghold in the Dutch East Indies with its important naval base at Surabaya.

Meanwhile, the N.E.I. Aneta news agency reported Java is now ready for its supreme test, which will come when the Japanese launch their expected invasion attempt.

The agency said the United Nations command, which has been accumulating forces in preparation for a last-ditch stand, has learned important lessons from recent Japanese advances.

These lessons are being applied, Aneta said, "as Java's last batches are battened down for the oncoming storm."

NAZIS USE SMALL SUB TO DESTROY BRAZILIAN SHIP

(Continued from Page One) after the Olinda went down and took Capt. Bellemont and another man into the U-boat, where the Nazi captain questioned them regarding the boat and its destination.

"She was real pocket-size and had a 5 or 6 inch gun on deck, and three machine guns on the conning tower," he said.

Patrol planes sighted the crew in the life boats and a short time later they were picked up.

The Olinda was the second Brazilian ship to be sunk off the Atlantic coast in a week. The cargo ship Buarque was sunk last Sunday.
